

Rollout enterprise systems with less risk, in less time, with less cost and with greater success: The goals for datango's latest software release are clear.

datango announces general availability of the datango performance suite 2010 ("dps 2010")

Berlin, Germany and Westford, MA, USA: February 9 2010 – datango AG, the leading independent provider of software that accelerates time-to-value and increases user acceptance of mission-critical systems, today announced the release and general availability of the datango performance suite 2010.

The latest evolution in the award-winning product suite contains new products within the portfolio, new features & functions for existing products - all of which are focused on enhanced usability and optimized performance that further accelerates the development of documentation and change materials to support mission critical applications.

Commenting on the new release, Dr. Jochen Wiechen, Chief Technology Officer at datango said, "After a year of challenging economic circumstances for companies, our clients have told us that doing more with less, improving efficiencies and creating business agility to cope with ongoing change are the 'new' constants of business today. As a result, the new developments and enhancements we have added to our solution are all designed to support the needs of increasingly 'lean' project teams working with fewer resources and against tighter deadlines."

Dr. Wiechen continued, "A tremendous example of how we're helping our customer be more efficient with dps 2010 is represented by the new datango instant producer; a product that allows for a globally distributed group of experts to contribute best practices to the project team – without training or a significant investment of time. By supporting a distributed approach with subject matter experts, project resources can be augmented by existing staff and managed by project administrators so as to retain control and visibility into status."

In addition to the new datango instant producer, dps 2010 also includes the following additional highlights:

- datango's navigation mode, to provide self-service help to users of enterprise systems when they encounter problems, has been optimized to further drive down help-desk calls and data entry errors
- Performance enhancements and increased scalability for large scale project teams and user communities
- Automation for localization processes has been extended to include datango's 'book' presentation capability for business policy and soft skill content delivery
- Compatibility with Internet Explorer 8 and Windows 7
